

B'side 16.149

Die Sabbathi, 13. Martii, 1646.

Whereas the severall streets within the Cities of London and Westminster, and the places about the same, are by the carelesnesse of such as are to repaire and amend the same so broken and ruinous, that they can hardly be passed without great danger: And whereas also by reason of neglect of those to whom it belongs to looke to the cleaning thereof, and the carrying away of the dung, dirt, and soyle thereof, the said streets are very noysome and offensive to passengers, which if no remedy should be taken therein, might be a meanes to breed Sicknesse and Plague, to the endangering of the lives of many people. The Lords in Parliament assembled, taking the same into their serious considerations doe Order, That the Lord Mayor of the City of London (for the time being) the Justices of peace of the said City of London and Westminster, and County of Middlesex in their severall divisions, doe take speciall care, as well for the mending, repairing, and paving of the severall streets aforesaid, as also of the cleaning and making cleane of the said streetes from all dung, dirt, and soyle whatsoever, of which the said Lords in parliament doe expect an account.

Die Sabbathi 13. Martii 1646.

Ordered by the Lords assembled in Parliament, that this Order be forthwith printed and published.

Joh. Brown Cler. Parliamentorum.

Printed at London for J. Wright at the King Head in the Old Baily. 1646[7]